DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The following guidelines illustrate the preferred layout for the specification of a utility application. These guidelines are suggested for the applicant's use.

Arrangement of the Specification

As provided in 37 CFR 1.77(b), the specification of a utility application should include the following sections in order. Each of the lettered items should appear in upper case, without underlining or bold type, as a section heading. If no text follows the section heading, the phrase "Not Applicable" should follow the section heading:

- (a) TITLE OF THE INVENTION.
- (b) CROSS-REFERENCE TO RELATED APPLICATIONS.
- (c) STATEMENT REGARDING FEDERALLY SPONSORED RESEARCH OR DEVELOPMENT.
- (d) THE NAMES OF THE PARTIES TO A JOINT RESEARCH AGREEMENT.
- (e) INCORPORATION-BY-REFERENCE OF MATERIAL SUBMITTED ON A COMPACT DISC.
- (f) BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION.
 - (1) Field of the Invention.
 - (2) Description of Related Art including information disclosed under 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98.
- (g) BRIEF SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION.
- (h) BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE SEVERAL VIEWS OF THE DRAWING(S).
- (i) DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE INVENTION.
- (j) CLAIM OR CLAIMS (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (k) ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (l) SEQUENCE LISTING (See MPEP § 2424 and 37 CFR 1.821-1.825. A "Sequence Listing" is required on paper if the application discloses a nucleotide or amino acid sequence as defined in 37 CFR 1.821(a) and if the required "Sequence Listing" is not submitted as an electronic document on compact disc).

The above listed headings are suggested for use by applicant.

Claim Objections

Claims 1-14 are objected to because of the following informalities: Applicant appears to use capital letters at the beginning of several lines throughout the claims.

Since the claims are supposed to be single sentence, this use of capitalization gives the appearance of a multiple sentence claim. Additionally, at several locations throughout the claims proper grammar appears not to have been used, for example: at line 6 applicant recites "inside brewing chamber" and at lines 8 and 9 applicant recites "end of mobile member". Use of the terms "the" or "said" before each of the previously mentioned phrases would be more appropriate and make reading of the claims easier and more understandable. While two examples have been given there grammatical issues are prevalent throughout the claims. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

At line 3, it is unclear what structure or element is being referred to by the term "It".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-3, 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ackermann in view of Parraga.

There is disclosed in Ackermann a substance extraction device for the production of a beverage, comprising: a brewing chamber 31; an interface 2; a hot water supply inlet 23 connected to the interface; a substance 13 for placement within the brewing chamber; and means for distributing the hot water to the substance, comprising means 21 for detecting the presence of the substance and means 22 for opening the hot water inlet into the brewing chamber upon detection of the substance. The means for detecting and opening being in the form of mobile member 21, 22 movable between a hot water shutoff position in which one end of the member would be deployed inside the brewing chamber when the interface and chamber come together and there is no substance within the chamber, and a hot water inlet open position in which the end of the mobile member is retracted from the brewing chamber by bearing on the substance when the interface and chamber come together and there is a substance within the chamber.

There is disclosed in Parraga a substance extraction device for the production of a beverage, comprising: a plurality of brewing chambers 84 which come into contact with an interface and hot water supply inlet.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to substitute the single brewing chamber of Ackermann with the multiple brewing chambers arrangement taught in Parraga, in order prevent wear on the single chamber by allowing use of several.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 4-8 and 11-14 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The patent to Meador and pre-grant publication to Fanzutti et al. are cited for their disclosure of a pod or cartridge detection means and control means for delivering hot water as a result of detection of the pod or cartridge.
